Federal Relief Pledged East Coast Region

Storm-Devastated Areas in 5 States To Get U.S. Help

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The devastated Eastern Seaboard fought to clear a monumental mass of debris today as the worst week of winter storms in its history faded under clearing skies. Sufferers in five states had President Kennedy's promise of federal disaster relief.

A storm that dropped seven inches of snow on parts of Georgia dwindled in intensity as it plodded northward Friday night and was expected to disappear during the day. It carried rain and light snow as far north as southern New England.

Tides running at a foot above normal slowed the dragnet of flooded coastal lowlands and hampered cleanup operations from Miami Beach to southern New England.

But this latest assault of the dying winter weather was small compared to the storm that began Tuesday and ravaged the coast for three days, leaving 38 known dead, 10 missing and damage estimated at $300 million.

Hard-hit sections of New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia were due financial aid as a result of President Kennedy's designation of them as disaster areas. Also included was West Virginia which suffered from floods last week.

A disaster declaration entitles stricken areas to federal financial aid to repair public facilities. Private homeowners in six states were covered under a separate disaster designation by the Small Business Administration, which prepared to grant them low-interest long-term rehabilitation loans.

The Agriculture Department listed 17 damaged counties in four states where farmers may obtain emergency credit to replenish property, livestock and land damaged by the storm.

To aid storm victims in Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey, New York and Maryland, the American Red Cross set up a disaster relief headquarters at Wilmington, Del. A separate headquarters in Manteo, N.C., handled that state.

New Jersey, which caught the full force of the storm, suffered damage estimated at $100 million or more and a loss of at least Jersey residents have taken refuge in temporary shelters.

Beach Haven, N.J., one of Long Beach Island's chief resort centers, was reported to have almost washed away, with 90 per cent of its homes either destroyed or badly damaged. More than 1,000 homes were reported to have disappeared along a 30-mile section of New Jersey's South Shore.

Scattered looting was reported in summer homes on the island, and New Jersey state police set up patrols and roadblocks to keep it at a minimum.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner estimated damage in New York City at $20 million, mostly in coastal sections of Queens. State funds totaling $3.3 million were released for repairs to New York State properties.

Chincoteague Island on Virginia's Eastern Shore was ordered evacuated for health reasons. The 2,000 persons who rode out the storm were being moved out. Some 1,000 had fled at the height of the onslaught.

At Ocean City, Md., 75 bulldozers were moved in to help clear sand and debris. The Maryland Legislature appropriated $1 million to help foot costs of repair and relief.

In North Carolina, the Naas Head-Kitty Hawk-Kill Devil Hills beach strand was virtually closed to prevent looting in the more than 300 homes wrecked by the storm.

Gromyko Hopeful At Arms Parley

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko arrived today for a round of East-West negotiations and said he hoped the nations meeting here would halt the "avalanche of armaments" facing mankind.

Gromyko's plane touched down at Geneva Airport in a driving rain. He was the first leading figure to arrive for foreign ministers talks on disarmament, nuclear and East-West cold war problems, including Berlin and Germany.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to arrive tonight and Britain's foreign secretary, Lord Home, at midday Sunday.

Gromyko said he was convinced that, if the great powers gave the same attention to disarmament as their politicians and general staff give to producing weapons of mass destruction, "then the success of the noble cause (of disarmament) will be assured."

He promised that Russia would do everything possible to achieve positive results at the conference and added, "The peoples of the world hope that the other participants will also show good will and the desire to reach agreement."

Monday's meeting was rife as the most important diplomatic event since President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev conferred in Vienna last June. For the first time since the summit blowup of May 1960, the stage is set for a detailed review of most major points of conflict between East and West.

London sources said British and American experts still have not completed the new nuclear proposal that Rusk and Home will present to Gromyko.

The two Western powers are reportedly willing to modify somewhat the control provisions for a test ban that they previously insisted upon. For one thing, new scientific techniques are making it easier to police sneak explosions.

The Rusk-Horne Gromyko meetings will precede the opening Wednesday of a 17-nation conference on general disarmament, which in itself should provoke wide discussion of cold war problems. The French are not taking part.

If the Big Three ministers succeed in dulling the edges of the old East-West arguments, they undoubtedly will clear the way for a spring summit meeting.

Quick agreement by the ministers could have one immediate result. It could lead to the calling off of the atmospheric nuclear tests that the United States now is preparing in the mid-Pacific.

Deadlock in Geneva undoubtedly will mean that those tests will go off as scheduled, probably in late April.

Elida Mayor Shot to Death

Northeastern Ohio Searches for Youth

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Clarence E. Prince, about 60, mayor of Elida, was shot to death in the street today, and a statewide search began for a 20-year-old suspect.

Prince also is constable of American Township. His son, Charles, is Elida's marshal.

State highway patrolmen said Prince apparently had stopped the gunman's car and was checking it when shot.

Two license numbers were found on the victim's note pad in his pocket. Patrolmen said they thought one might be the number of the gunman's get-away car. Prince's wife said he was checking on some autos in Elida, but could not say for what reason. She did not know whether this was one of the cars.

The shooting took place near an Elida school building. Residents in the area said they heard two gunshots about 8 a. m. and saw a 1955 or 1956 yellow Oldsmobile leaving the scene.

Prince's gun was found near his body. Four cartridges were marked by the firing pin, but none had fired.

Highway patrolmen said they had issued an all-points bulletin for the apprehension of a 20-year-old youth, and alerted police in the northwestern section of the state particularly since they thought the youth might be heading for the Toledo area.

State Says Fair Dates To Stand

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—As far as the Exposition Commission is concerned, the 1962 State Fair will be expanded to 11 days and will include the Labor Day weekend.

The decision, made Feb. 9 and Fair Managers Association, came up for discussion Friday at the monthly commission meeting. The group said all issues of the question had been covered and therefore the dates will stand.

The fair managers had protested because they said stretching the state exposition through the Labor Day weekend created conflict with 11 county fairs.

After the question of dates had been brushed aside, Chairman Roland Bishop announced that he has been promised that two stars of the television show "Bonanza"—Loren Green and Dan Blocker (Ben and Hoss Cartwright)—will be on the grand stand stage over the Labor Day weekend.

The commission voted against having any games of chance or skill at the fair. The action was prompted by a recent opinion by Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who held that unless prizes of equal value are awarded whether the player wins or loses the game violates the state's anti-gambling laws.

2 Men Are Indicted For Cattle Rustling

CINCINNATI (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted two Hamilton men for alleged cattle rustling. Roscoe Jones Thomas, 36, and Lurman P. Rumley, 31, are accused of taking seven head of cattle from a Warren County farm Jan. 18 and transporting them to Indianapolis.

Sailors Tell Of Ordeal on Broken Ship

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Rugged sailors rescued from battered ships in high seas, told shuddering tales of their ordeal. One saved from the stern section of a tanker that had broken in two said, "It was the longest night of my life."

Thirty-three men were rescued from the Liberian molasses tanker Gem, which split off the Carolina coast Wednesday night. The destroyer Stribling landed at Mayport, Fla., with 26 survivors Friday and the Caribbean cruiser Victoria took seven survivors to New York.

The Gem's chief engineer, Aldo Compasaran, said that he was in the engine room when the ship began breaking up. He said he could feel the ship cracking and then heard a loud crash.

Willeh Arman, Tartu, Estonia, the ship's first pumpman, said, "Nearly everyone aboard was fearful of what might happen. It was the longest night of my life."

Seven sailors and the ship's captain were stranded in the forward part of the ship. The Victoria of the Ingres Line rescued them Thursday.

Ohio's Influenza Case Totals Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A marked increase in influenza cases has been noted this year but it seems to be subsiding, an Ohio Health Department official said Friday.

Winslow Bashe, chief of the Communicable Diseases Division, said there have been no major influenza outbreaks since flu reduced attendance in many Ohio classrooms by as much as 75 per cent about a month ago.

Meanwhile, however, Bashe said there have been an increasing number of measles outbreaks. "These should reach a peak by early spring," he said.

On the brighter side, Bashe reported that infectious hepatitis seems to be declining after increasing at an alarming rate since 1957.

Solons 'Failing' To Tell Issues

CLEVELAND (AP)—A former Ohio governor says not enough legislators tell the public what the issues are.

"They may not know what the issues are or they may not have developed a stand on them," C. William O'Neill, now a state supreme court judge, said Friday.

He said most of the legislative problems that arise are due to a breakdown in communications among the governor and members of the legislature.

O'Neill spoke at a seminar on legislative leadership. Another speaker was former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia. He said state legislatures have lost prestige and significance over the past several years for failing to meet problems.

Democrats in Florida To Hear President

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy plans to go cruising on the yacht, Oney Fitz, before steering into political waters with a speech tonight at a Democratic $100-a-plate dinner.

The chief executive is billed as principal speaker when some 3,000 party faithful are expected to assemble for a threefold purpose: To raise money $300,000 or so, judging by advance sales; to put on a show of party unity in a state with increasing Republican strength, and to launch Sen. George A. Smathers on his reelection campaign.

The dinner is a testimonial to Smathers, an old friend of Kennedy's, who is seeking his third term in the Senate.

The opulent resort city buzzed with talk of possible demonstrations by Cuban refugees.

Leaders of the thousands of anti-Castro refugees in the Miami area have urged them to put on a demonstration to show their thanks for U.S. assistance and sympathy.

But most sources Friday night discounted reports that 25,000 or more refugees would mass in front of the beachfront hotel where the banquet will be held.

However, police acted to head off the risk of any trouble. Two hundred officers were on duty and warnings have gone out that anyone starting a disturbance will be arrested.

The President is staying at the home of the late Harriett E. Young on the Biscayne Bay side of Miami Beach.

Kennedy occupied a second-floor bedroom overlooking the bay and the mansion's swimming pool. The presidential yacht was tied up at the dock.

The President spent more than an hour and a half Friday visiting at the Palm Beach home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is recuperating from the stroke he suffered in December.

Right-Wingers Again Strike Paris, Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—Right wing terrorists struck in Paris and Algiers today, but Algerian peace talks moved steadily toward an accord for a cease-fire.

A bomb planted in a parked car in the Paris suburb of Issy les Moulineaux blew up with tremendous force during the morning rush hour, killing two policemen and a postal employee and wounding 50 other persons. Authorities blamed the explosion on the rightist European Secret Army Organization, which is opposed to Algerian independence.

The booby-trapped car was parked in front of a building where a leftist rally was scheduled later in the day. The explosion echoed through the heart of the French capital at a time when the city's security forces were being reinforced in expectation of massive secret army retaliation to a cease-fire announcement.

The tempo of terrorism picked up in Algeria Friday after two relatively quiet days. Forty-four persons were killed and 31 wounded in 55 separate attacks.

But French and Algerian negotiators began weekend sessions at Evian, France, showing no signs that the stepped up violence was impeding progress toward an agreement on ending the severe and a half year Algerian rebellion and eventual independence for the territory.

Men from 6 Nations To Tour Farms in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Agriculture is playing host to men from six different nations interested in Ohio's farming procedures.

Agriculture Director Robert Terhune said the visitors—from Argentina, Iraq, Indonesia, Korea, British Guiana and China—are especially interested in the state's farm credit system.

The visitors will tour farms in counties. The tour ends March 21.

Logan Elm in Sweet 16 On 59-56 District Win

BRAVE CHAMPIONS — This group of Logan Elm eagers had much to be happy about last night following a 59-56 victory over Ridgedale in the Central District Class A finals at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum. The Braves, now poised for Regional action, are District co-champs along with University of Columbus. Shouting it up here are, from the left: Tom Huffines, Danny Hicks, Roger Clarke, Bob Parker, Coach Keith Merrin, Chuck Spangler, Dave Horn, Jeff Lutz and Gary Hardman. (Staff Photo)

By STEVE JONES

Logan Elm emerged as one of the top sixteen teams in the state last night, when the Braves defeated the Ridgedale Rockets 59-56 in a rough and tumble game that wasn't decided until the final seconds.

Logan Elm jumped to an early lead and never trailed throughout the game. The Braves outscored the Ridgedale eagers in all but the last frame but the slight edge that the Rockets gained in the final minutes wasn't enough to overcome the margin the Pickaway Countians had built in the first three periods.

Gary Hardman scored only eight points for the Braves, but last night he was the mainstay of the team. He played a brilliant floor game, setting up many of the Logan Elm scoring plays. On defense he was superb as he harried the Rockets constantly, never giving them a chance for the good outside shot, reportedly one of their main offensive weapons.

But one player cannot be credited with last night's victory. Buck Clarke scored five points on two field goals and one foul shot. In the first half he grabbed seven of Logan Elm's rebounds, an important factor in the seven point lead the Braves held at halftime.

DANNY HICKS sank eight of 14 attempts from the field and one of four tries at the charity stripe, accounting for 17 big points.

Chuck Spangler teamed with Hicks in garnering scoring leads for the Braves, sinking seven of two point tries and three out of four free throws for 17.

Dave Horn added eight points to the Braves scoring column, and Don Burger two. Probably three of the most important points of the game came in the last 44 seconds for the Braves. Hardman stepped to the charity stripe and spotted a free throw that gave Logan Elm a 57-54 margin—all that was needed to win. But 21 seconds later Bobby Parker dropped in two big foul shots that put the game out of reach of the Ridgedale eagers.

Ridgedale controlled the opening tip of the game, but Steve Sharp missed a jump shot from the corner and the Braves came down with the rebound. Seconds later Clarke tipped in a rebound shot, and Logan Elm was on the way to the Athens Regional tournament.

Sharp drove in on a give and go play to sink a bucket for the Rockets. The next four points belonged to Logan Elm as Horn and Hardman tallied on successive jump shots.

Dave Williams pulled the rockets within three points when he hit for one from the charity lane, and then Hicks and Horn put together a six point spurt before the Rockets could connect again.

WILLIAMS hit two for the Rockets, and Hicks tipped in a rebound shot for the Braves.

Hicks collected his third foul of the game with 2:27 yet to go in the first quarter and Don Burger was sent in to replace him. But Danny had already added six points to his scoring total.

Spangler sank a jump shot to pull the Braves out 16-8, but young Jim Craycraft tallied on the next play. Horn tipped in a rebound, and Williams added four to the Rockets total. When the horn blew ending the first quarter Logan Elm led 18-14.

Jackie Kennedy Is in Rome; Italians Hail Her as 'Queen'

ROME (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, hailed by Italians as "America's queen," arrived today en route to India and Pakistan and immediately paid a courtesy call on President Giovanni Gronchi.

The U.S. First Lady, who is making a 33-hour stopover in Rome, drove directly from Rome's airport to 400-year-old Quirinal Palace, now the presidential residence and once the home of Popes and kings.

Mrs. Kennedy was received by Gronchi and his wife and spent 25 minutes with them.

Then she was driven to Villa Taverna, residence of G. Frederick Reinhardt, U.S. ambassador to Rome. She will spend the night there, be received in audience by Pope John XXIII Sunday and leave in the evening for New Delhi.

The President's wife will be guest of honor tonight at a private dinner given by Count Dino Pecci-Blunt, a Kennedy family friend. She will attend Mass Sunday at the pontifical North American College and be received by the Pope.

Mrs. Kennedy was loudly applauded by a crowd of about 1,500 who watched her leave the plane.

She flashed a radiant smile and waved to the crowd watching from a roof observation area as she appeared at the forward door of the plane.

At the airport to meet the President's wife were U.S. Ambassador Frederick Reinhardt, seven other embassy officials and their wives, Count Guerinio Roberti, protocol chief of the Italian Foreign Ministry and General Renato Salaris, airport commander.

She wore a leopard skin coat. Her shoes, purse, gloves and small hat were black. A black scarf was tied snugly around her neck against a chilly wind and slight drizzle.

Mrs. Kennedy made her transatlantic flight sleeping most of the way in a private compartment.

The huge jet plane filled with 116 other passengers and a crew of ten had a fairly smooth flight. Few of the passengers got a glimpse of the President's wife. Strict privacy was maintained between her first-class compartment and a large, economy section.

Liz Taylor May Shed Her Fourth Mate

ROME (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher hid behind a barricade of villa walls and press agents today amid reports their "this is forever" marriage is on the rocks. And they hid together.

A spokesman for Fisher termed ridiculous reports that his actress wife is "madly in love with British actor Richard Burton, the Marc Antony in the multimillion-dollar movie Cleopatra."

"Eddie said he wouldn't dignify the story by saying anything about it," the spokesman for the crooner insisted.

Miss Taylor's attorney, Robert Abrahms, also issued a fast denial of marital trouble.

"These reports are absolutely false," Abrahms said. "I know this."

But these denials did not silence the reports that have circulated here for weeks.

And assuring that the rumors would not fast die down one source that has been close to the couple's household said Fisher and Miss Taylor would separate after the completion of the movie.

Miss Taylor was previously married to hotel heir Nicky Hilton, actor Michael Wilding and showman Michael Todd, a close friend of Fisher who was killed in an air crash in 1958.

U.S. Diplomat Seeks To Cut World Tensions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk took off for Geneva today, calling on the Soviets to join in a real effort to stem the arms race and reduce cold war tensions.

Rusk, heading for a 17-nation disarmament conference, told newsmen that "We will do everything that we can on our side to help turn down the arms race and reduce present tensions."

"If all the rest who are coming to Geneva will approach it in that spirit we will make some real headway," Rusk said.

He expressed hope that a preliminary meeting with the foreign ministers of Russia and Britain will develop "a framework in which the conference itself will make some real progress."

Rusk, heading a 33-man delegation, took off from Andrews Air Force Base aboard a military jet liner. Because of poor weather, the plane was routed through Goose Bay, Labrador, instead of undertaking a direct course to Geneva.

Rusk will get together in the Swiss city with the British and Soviet foreign ministers Sunday night. The setting will be a dinner Rusk is giving for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Howe.

Here negotiations may start in earnest on disarmament and the Berlin dispute. The meeting is preliminary to Wednesday's formal opening of the 17-nation disarmament conference of Western, Eastern and nonaligned nations.

Prior to Sunday night's dinner, Rusk will have lunch at Lausanne, near Geneva, with West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder. Then Rusk and Home will confer at Geneva before seeing Gromyko.

On the eve of his departure with a 33-man U.S. delegation, Rusk described the Geneva sessions as "one of the most important negotiations that we've been in for a long, long time."

It is important, he said, because "this arms race is threatening to spiral to new heights of unmanageability." A disarmament accord, Rusk said, would be "not only in the interest of the safety of this country but also of all mankind."

If Gromyko indicates willingness to settle the Berlin problem on terms the West might accept, informants said, Rusk is prepared to offer somewhat revised versions of past Western proposals.

These reportedly involve a possible interim settlement of the Berlin issue and agreement on Central European security. Details were not revealed but were said to have been worked out in advance in Washington with the British and French.

On disarmament Rusk was prepared to lay before the full conference the general U.S. program aimed at achieving complete, controlled disarmament by stages. Within the over-all plan are long-range and first-step proposals for arms cuts designed to set varying degrees of progress by the negotiators.

A related proposal is the U.S. British draft treaty for a nuclear test ban, rejected by the Russians last year because of its international control provisions. U.S. officials figured the issue could be taken up by a special U.S.-British-Soviet subcommittee at the conference.

Rusk intends to bring up the subject with Gromyko after reviewing it with Home. Lingering differences remain between the British, who lean toward easing some control requirements, and the Americans, who want tight protection against any test-ban violations or secret preparations.

The opulent resort city buzzed with talk of possible demonstrations by Cuban refugees.

Leaders of the thousands of anti-Castro refugees in the Miami area have urged them to put on a demonstration to show their thanks for U.S. assistance and sympathy.

But most sources Friday night discounted reports that 75,000 or more refugees would mass in front of the beachfront hotel where the banquet will be held.

However, police acted to head off the risk of any trouble. Two hundred officers were on duty and warnings have gone out that anyone starting a disturbance will be arrested.

The President is staying at the home of the late Harriett E. Young on the Biscayne Bay side of Miami Beach.

Kennedy occupied a second-floor bedroom overlooking the bay and the mansion's swimming pool. The presidential yacht was tied up at the dock.

The President spent more than an hour and a half Friday visiting at the Palm Beach home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is recuperating from the stroke he suffered in December.

Right-Wingers Again Strike Paris, Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—Right wing terrorists struck in Paris and Algiers today, but Algerian peace talks moved steadily toward an accord for a cease-fire.

A bomb planted in a parked car in the Paris suburb of Issy les Moulineaux blew up with tremendous force during the morning rush hour, killing two policemen and a postal employee and wounding 50 other persons. Authorities blamed the explosion on the rightist European Secret Army Organization, which is opposed to Algerian independence.

The booby-trapped car was parked in front of a building where a leftist rally was scheduled later in the day. The explosion echoed through the heart of the French capital at a time when the city's security forces were being reinforced in expectation of massive secret army retaliation to a cease-fire announcement.

The tempo of terrorism picked up in Algeria Friday after two relatively quiet days. Forty-four persons were killed and 31 wounded in 55 separate attacks.

But French and Algerian negotiators began weekend sessions at Evian, France, showing no signs that the stepped up violence was impeding progress toward an agreement on ending the seven and a half year Algerian rebellion and eventual independence for the territory.

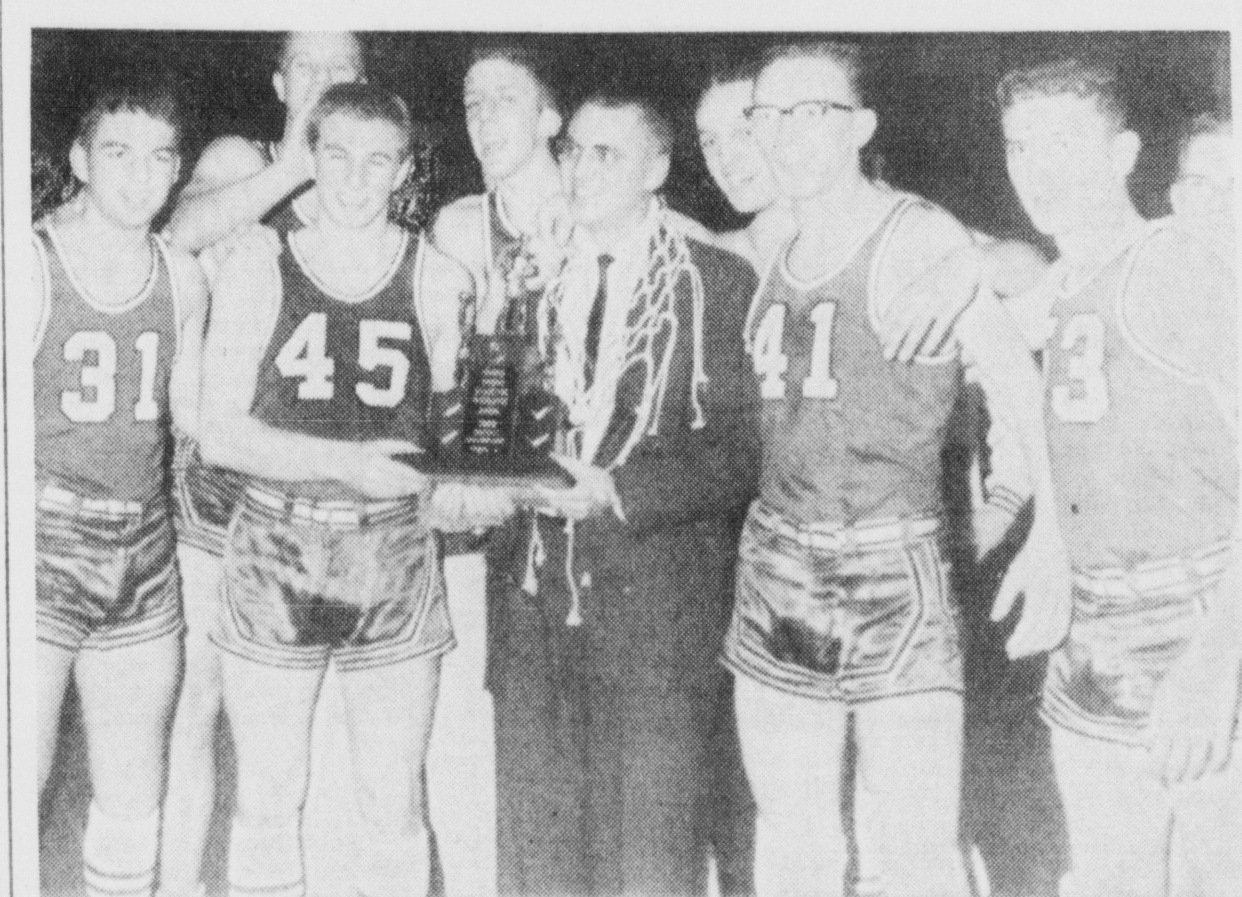

Men from 6 Nations To Tour Farms in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Agriculture is playing host to men from six different nations interested in Ohio's farming procedures.

Agriculture Director Robert Terhune said the visitors—from Argentina, Iraq, Indonesia, Korea, British Guiana and China—are especially interested in the state's farm credit system.

The visitors will tour farms in counties. The tour ends March 21.

Logan Elm in Sweet 16 On 59-56 District Win

BRAVE CHAMPIONS — This group of Logan Elm eagers had much to be happy about last night following a 59-56 victory over Ridgedale in the Central District Class A finals at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum. The Braves, now poised for Regional action, are District co-champs along with University of Columbus. Shouting it up here are, from the left: Tom Huffines, Danny Hicks, Roger Clarke, Bob Park-er, Coach Keith Merrin, Chuck Spangler, Dave Horn, Jeff Lutz and Gary Hardman. (Staff Photo)

By STEVE JONES

Logan Elm emerged as one of the top sixteen teams in the state last night, when the Braves defeated the Ridgedale Rockets 59-56 in a rough and tumble game that wasn't decided until the final seconds.

Logan Elm jumped to an early lead and never trailed throughout the game. The Braves outscored the Ridgedale cagers in all but the last frame but the slight edge that the Rockets gained in the final minutes wasn't enough to overcome the margin the Pickaway Countians had built in the first three periods.

Gary Hardman scored only eight points for the Braves, but last night he was the mainstay of the team. He played a brilliant floor game, setting up many of the Logan Elm scoring plays. On defense he was superb as he harried the Rockets constantly, never giving them a chance for the good outside shot, reportedly one of their main offensive weapons.

But one player cannot be credited with last night's victory. Buck Clarke scored five points on two field goals and one foul shot. In the first half he grabbed seven of Logan Elm's rebounds, an important factor in the seven point lead the Braves held at halftime.

DANNY HICKS sank eight of 14 attempts from the field and one of four tries at the charity stripe, accounting for 17 big points.

Chuck Spangler teamed with Hicks in garnering scoring laurels for the Braves, sinking seven two point tallies and three out of four free throws for 17.

Dave Horn added eight points to the Braves scoring column, and Don Burger two. Probably three of the most important points of the game came in the last 44 seconds for the Braves. Hardman stepped to the charity stripe and potted a free throw that gave Logan Elm a 57-54 margin — all that was needed to win. But 21 seconds later Bobby Parker dropped in two big foul shots that put the game out of reach of the Ridgedale cagers.

Ridgedale controlled the opening tip of the game, but Steve Sharp missed a jump shot from the corner and the Braves came down with the rebound. Seconds later Clarke tipped in a rebound shot, and Logan Elm was on the way to the Athens Regional tournament.

Sharp drove in on a give and go play to sink a bucket for the Rockets. The next four points belonged to Logan Elm as Horn and Hardman tallied on successive jump shots.

Dave Williams pulled the rockets within three points when he hit for one from the charity lane, and then Hicks and Horn put together a six point spurt before the Rockets could connect again.

WILLIAMS hit two for the Rockets, and Hicks tipped in a rebound shot for the Braves.

Hicks collected his third foul of the game with 2:27 yet to go in the first quarter and Don Burger was sent in to replace him. But Danny had already added six points to his scoring total.

Spangler sank a jump shot to pull the Braves out 16-8, but young Jim Craycraft tallied on the next play. Horn tipped in a rebound, and Williams added four to the Rockets total. When the horn blew ending the first quarter Logan Elm led 18-14.

Jackie Kennedy Is in Rome; Italians Hail Her as 'Queen'

ROME (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, hailed by Italians as "America's queen," arrived today en route to India and Pakistan and immediately paid a courtesy call on President Giovanni Gronchi.

The U.S. First Lady, who is making a 33-hour stopover in Rome, drove directly from Rome's airport to 400-year-old Quirinal Palace, now the presidential residence and once the home of Popes and kings.

Mrs. Kennedy was received by Gronchi and his wife and spent 25 minutes with them.

Then she was driven to Villa Taverna, residence of G. Frederick Reinhardt, U.S. ambassador to Rome. She will spend the night there, he received in audience by Pope John XXIII Sunday and leave in the evening for New Delhi.

The President's wife will be guest of honor tonight at a private dinner given by Count Dino Pecci-Blunt, a Kennedy family friend.

She will attend Mass Sunday at the pontifical North American College and be received by the Pope.

Mrs. Kennedy was loudly applauded by a crowd of about 1,000 who watched her leave the plane.

She flashed a radiant smile and waved to the crowd watching from a roof observation area as she appeared at the forward door of the plane.

At the airport to meet the President's wife were U.S. Ambassador Frederick Reinhardt, seven other embassy officials and their wives, Count Guerinio Roberti protocol chief of the Italian Foreign Ministry and General Renato Salaris, airport commander.

She wore a leopard skin coat. Her shoes, purse, gloves and small hat were black. A black scarf was tied snugly around her neck against a chilly wind and night drizzle.

Mrs. Kennedy made her transatlantic flight sleeping most of the way in a private compartment.

The huge jet plane filled with 116 other passengers and a crew of ten had a fairly smooth flight. Few of the passengers got a glimpse of the President's wife. Strict privacy was maintained between her first-class compartment and a large, economy section.

Liz Taylor May Shed Her Fourth Mate

ROME (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher held behind a barricade of villa walls and press agents today amid reports their "this is forever" marriage is on the rocks. And they hid together.

A spokesman for Fisher termed ridiculous reports that his actress wife is "madly in love with British actor Richard Burton, the Marc Antony in the multimillion dollar movie Cleopatra."

"Eddie said he wouldn't dignify the story by saying anything about it," the spokesman for the crooner insisted.

Miss Taylor's attorney, Robert Abrahms, also issued a fast denial of marital trouble.

"These reports are absolutely false," Abrahms said. "I know this."

But these denials did not silence the reports that have circulated here for weeks.

And assuring that the rumors would not fast die down one source that has been close to the couple's household said Fisher and Miss Taylor would separate after the completion of the movie.

Miss Taylor was previously married to hotel heir Nicky Hilton, actor Michael Wilding and showman Michael Todd, a close friend of Fisher who was killed in an air crash in 1958.

U.S. Diplomat Seeks To Cut World Tensions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk took off for Geneva today, calling on the Soviets to join in a real effort to stem the arms race and reduce cold war tensions.

Rusk, heading for a 17-nation disarmament conference, told newsmen that "We will do everything that we can on our side to help turn down the arms race and reduce present tensions."

"If all the rest who are coming to Geneva will approach it in that spirit we will make some real headway," Rusk said.

He expressed hope that a preliminary meeting with the foreign ministers of Russia and Britain will develop "a framework in which the conference itself will make some real progress."

Rusk, heading a 33-man delegation, took off from Andrews Air Force Base aboard a military jet liner. Because of poor weather, the plane was routed through Goose Bay, Labrador, instead of undertaking a direct course to Geneva.

Rusk will get together in the Swiss city with the British and Soviet foreign ministers Sunday night. The setting will be a dinner Rusk is giving for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

Here negotiations may start in earnest on disarmament and the Berlin dispute. The meeting is preliminary to Wednesday's formal opening of the 17-nation disarmament conference of Western, Eastern and nonaligned nations.

Prior to Sunday night's dinner, Rusk will have lunch at Lausanne, near Geneva, with West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. Then Rusk and Home will confer at Geneva before seeing Gromyko.

On the eve of his departure with a 33-man U.S. delegation, Rusk described the Geneva sessions as "one of the most important negotiations that we've been in for a long, long time."

It is important, he said, because "this arms race is threatening to spiral to new heights of unmanageability." A disarmament accord, Rusk said, would be "not only in the interest of the safety of this country but also of all mankind."

If Gromyko indicates willingness to settle the Berlin problem on terms the West might accept, informants said, Rusk is prepared to offer somewhat revised versions of past Western proposals.

These reportedly involve a possible interim settlement of the Berlin issue and agreement on Central European security. Details were not revealed but were said to have been worked out in advance in Washington with the British and French.

On disarmament Rusk was prepared to lay before the full conference the general U.S. program aimed at achieving complete, controlled disarmament by stages. Within the over-all plan are long-range and first-step proposals for arms cuts designed to set varying degrees of progress by the negotiators.

A related proposal is the U.S.-British draft treaty for a nuclear test ban, rejected by the Russians last year because of its international control provisions. U.S. officials figured the issue could be taken up by a special U.S.-British-Soviet subcommittee at the conference.

Rusk intends to bring up the subject with Gromyko after reviewing it with Home. Lingering differences remain between the British, who lean toward easing some control requirements, and the Americans, who want tight protection against any test-ban violations or secret preparations.

Boy, 13, Stabs Boy, 15, In Fight over Girl

CINCINNATI (AP)—John Anderson, 15, was in serious condition Friday night after being stabbed in the right side in a fight over a girl. Police said his assailant, a 13-year-old, told them Anderson had first struck him in the face, in front of Samuel A. Junior High School.

County Sales Tax Figures Are Lower

Pickaway County showed a decrease in sales tax collections for the past eight-month period as compared to 1960 figures.

However, for the week ending March 3, 1962, there was an increase of $3,076.94 over collections made a year ago. Totals from July 1, 1961 were $157,753.52 while in a similar period last year they amounted to $153,275.05. Collections for the week ending March 3 were $7,366.39 this year and $7,289.45 last year.

Motor vehicle sales tax collections, which are not included in the above amounts, were down slightly from last year. During the past eight-month period total collections amounted to $98,190.06 and $106,501.00 last year. For the week, $3,183.88 was collected this year and $3,240.09 last year.

Only three of Ohio's 88 counties showed an increase in sales tax collections for the past eight-month period, according to State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson.

"TOTAL collections from July 1, 1961 through March 3, 1962 from all of Ohio's counties amounted to $98,063,389," Ferguson announced. "This represents a decrease of $12,157,861 or about 11 per cent from a year ago," he stated.

It was reported that these figures do not include collections from the sale of automobiles.

Fayette County, with collections of $317,857 as against $231,359 a year ago, ranked first in percentage of gain. Its total collections represented an increase of slightly more than 27 per cent.

Truffles, small black fungi prized by gourmets, are found by their aroma. Pigs dogs and goats are employed in the hunting.

Logan Elm...

long shot to open scoring in the second period, Logan Elm seared the nets for 12 consecutive points to gain a 30-16 lead. The Rockets were down but they weren't out, and by halftime they had narrowed the gap to six points — 32-26.

At the start of the second half it looked like the team from the Marion section had found the right scoring combination. After two minutes and 30 seconds of play they trailed by only two points.

For the next two minutes it was Logan Elm's turn to put on the pressure. Hicks, Spangler and Hardman put together a nine point scoring to make the score 45-34.

In the remaining minutes of the third period the Rockets outscored the Braves seven to three, and it was a 48-41 ball game going into the last eight minutes.

GARY HARDMAN suffered a hard knock on the head shortly after the second half started. He sported a rather large goose egg over his right eye for the remainder of the game.

In those last eight minutes of play the action roared a little to the rough side. Ridgedale scored nine of their fifteen points at the charity stripe.

With 2:18 on the clock Logan Elm was sporting a three-point margin so the Braves went into a stall that lasted for one minute and 30 seconds. It became apparent that the only way the Rockets could gain possession of the ball was to deliberately foul one of the Logan Elm cagers and Craycraft did just that — pushing Buck Clarke out of bounds to break up the stall. Clark retaliated. When the ensuing melee was cleared up, Logan Elm had a foul shot coming. Ridgedale had two shots on a technical and Clarke was out of the game.

Jeff Lutz was elected to try the shot for the Braves — he missed. Craycraft hit the first of two attempts but missed the second.

Logan Elm controlled the jump, and with 44 seconds left in the game, Hardman was fouled. He connected on what proved to be the winning point, but Bob Parker put the icing on the cake when he hit two foul shots with just 23 seconds showing on the clock.

The Braves took home the championship trophy, the game basketball, the nets and a berth in the Athens Regional. University High 63-55 winner over Centerburg last night, will move to Regional play at Troy.

STEVE SHARP garnered scoring laurels for the game. He accumulated 18 points hitting six of 17 attempts from the field and six of eight charity tosses. Craycraft contributed 14 to the loser's total and Williams added 10 points.

As a team, Ridgedale connected on 21 of 59 field goal attempts, and 14 of 23 chances at the foul line. Logan Elm was 25 for 60 from the field and 9 for 18 from the charity stripe.

Leipsic Cop Plinks Pair In Robbery

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — Two Desher men are in the Putnam County jail nursing bullet wounds suffered when they learned the hard way that Leipsic Police Chief Harold Swank knew how to use his revolver.

Swank, who retires from the Leipsic police force Monday, prided himself on never having had to fire his revolver: at a man in 23 years. The record was broken early Friday.

Swank discovered two masked men in front of the safe at the Morehead Elevator office. When the men heard Swank approaching they started running. Swank said he called to them to stop, fired warning shots in the air and then leveled the revolver: at the fleeing men.

James Gorsline, 28, was shot in the leg and apprehended immediately. Gorsline's brother, Eddie, 32, was arrested Friday afternoon at his home. He had bullet wounds in his shoulder and crin.

Both men were held for investigation.

There were no injuries but extensive damage was inflicted on both vehicles.

Libely was cited to appear in Circleville Municipal Court on charges of failure to have assured clear distance ahead by Patrolman Wogan.

Pension Fund Action Planned By Ohio Board

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP) — The Controlling Board contemplates action on money due the teachers and school employees retirement funds as soon as the state has enough in its general fund to cover the debt, a board member said Thursday.

Deputy Finance Director John Stanley said the board took no action on the $28.9 million in delayed payments because the state has only $6.8 million in its general revenue fund.

The teachers' fund should have received $11.6 million last November and another $12.5 million last month. The school employees' fund should have gotten $2.2 million in November and $2.6 million a month ago. An additional $15 million will be due the funds in May.

Finance Director James H. Maloon has expressed the hope that all payments can be made by the end of the fiscal year, but other officials have said the state's financial picture makes that a doubtful possibility.

The executive secretary of the teachers' fund, L. D. Shuter, said the fund is losing $3,200 a day in interest it could have been getting had the payments been made on time.

County Sales Tax Figures Are Lower

Pickaway County showed a decrease in sales tax collections for the past eight-month period as compared to 1960 figures.

However, for the week ending March 3, 1962, there was an increase of $3,076.94 over collections made a year ago. Totals from July 1, 1961 were $157,753.52 while in a similar period last year they amounted to $183,275.05. Collections for the week ending March 3 were $7,366.39 this year and $4,289.45 last year.

Motor vehicle sales tax collections, which are not included in the above amounts, were down slightly from last year. During the past eight-month period total collections amounted to $98,190.06 and $106,501.00 last year. For the week, $3,185.88 was collected this year and $3,240.09 last year.

Only three of Ohio's 88 counties showed an increase in sales tax collections for the past eight-month period, according to State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson.

"TOTAL collections from July 1, 1961 through March 3, 1962 from all of Ohio's counties amounted to $98,063,389," Ferguson announced. "This represents a decrease of $12,157,861 or about 11 per cent from a year ago," he stated.

It was reported that these figures do not include collections from the sale of automobiles.

Fayette County, with collections of $317,857 as against $231,359 a year ago, ranked first in percentage of gain. Its total collections represented an increase of slightly more than 27 per cent.

Truffles, small black fungi prized by gourmets, are found by their aroma. Pigs dogs and goats are employed in the hunting.

VICTOR IN ACTION — Roger Clarke (45), a Logan Elm cage hustler, snares a rebound and quickly looks for a teammate in this action last night at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum. The Braves won their bracket of the District with a thrilling 59-56 verdict over Ridgedale. Other Logan Elms are Chuck Spangler (33) and Dave Horn (41). Ridgedale players are Jim Craycraft (34) and Ron Brown (44).

Logan Elm ...

long shot to open scoring in the second period, Logan Elm seared the nets for 12 consecutive points to gain a 30-16 lead. The Rockets were down but they weren't out, and by halftime they had narrowed the gap to six points — 32-26.

At the start of the second half it looked like the team from the Marion section had found the right scoring combination. After two minutes and 30 seconds of play they trailed by only two points.

For the next two minutes it was Logan Elm's turn to put on the pressure. Hicks, Spangler and Hardman put together a nine point scoring to make the score 45-34.

In the remaining minutes of the third period the Rockets outscored the Braves seven to three, and it was a 48-41 ball game going into the last eight minutes.

GARY HARDMAN suffered a hard knock on the head shortly after the second half started. He sported a rather large goose egg over his right eye for the remainder of the game.

In those last eight minutes of play the action roared a little to the rough side. Ridgedale scored nine of their fifteen points at the charity stripe.

With 2:18 on the clock Logan Elm was sporting a three-point margin so the Braves went into a stall that lasted for one minute and 30 seconds. It became apparent that the only way the Rockets could gain possession of the ball was to deliberately foul one of the Logan Elm cagers and Craycraft did just that — pushing Buck Clarke out of bounds to break up the stall. Clark retaliated. When the ensuing melee was cleared up, Logan Elm had a foul shot coming. Ridgedale had two shots on a technical and Clarke was out of the game.

Jeff Lutz was elected to try the shot for the Braves — he missed. Craycraft hit the first of two attempts but missed the second.

Logan Elm controlled the jump, and with 44 seconds left in the game, Hardman was fouled. He connected on what proved to be the winning point, but Bob Parker put the icing on the cake when he hit two foul shots with just 23 seconds showing on the clock.

The Braves took home the championship trophy, the game basketball, the nets and a berth in the Athens Regional. University High 63-55 winner over Centerburg last night, will move to Regional play at Troy.

STEVE SHARP garnered scoring laurels for the game. He accumulated 18 points hitting six of 17 attempts from the field and six of eight charity tosses. Craycraft contributed 14 to the loser's total and Williams added 10 points.

As a team, Ridgedale connected on 21 of 59 field goal attempts, and 14 of 23 chances at the foul line. Logan Elm was 25 for 60 from the field and 9 for 18 from the charity stripe.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Carol Baum and Jerry Vance were scheduled to receive the State Jr. Leader Honor Awards at the Ohio Jr. Leader Honor Award Conference yesterday and today.

They were selected by the 4-H Council awards committee to receive the highest county 4-H award.

The 11th annual Jr. Leader Honor Award Conference is designed to give recognition to the outstanding Jr. Leaders from all 88 counties in the state. The event, sponsored by the Ohio 4-H Club Foundation, is being held at the Youth Center and Arts and Crafts Buildings at the Ohio Exposition Center.

The purpose of the Jr. Leader Honor Award is to provide recognition for demonstrating Jr. Leadership and service, to use accumulated experiences of the members to help plan, promote and carry out the 4-H club program, to provide further opportunity to develop leadership of the members, to encourage members to continue as Jr. Leaders and to extend the period of active interest in service and in the Extension program.

Every year each county may nominate one or more Jr. Leaders as candidates to receive this award. The total number of nominations allowed depends upon the number of 4-H members in the county.

One nominee is allowed for each 400 4-H members enrolled or fractions thereof. Pickaway County may nominate two Jr. Leaders. Applications for the nominees are then sent to the State 4-H Club Department for approval and announcement.

Several requirements must be met in order for a member to be eligible. They are: the member must be at least 17 and not over 21 on Jan. 1, 1962; must have completed four years of 4-H club work showing high standards of project work; must have completed two years of Jr. Leadership activities; must have demonstrated leadership ability; and must have a record of unselfish participation in club or community, county, state and national activities.

Miss Baum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baum, Route 1, Lockbourne. She has been a member of the Duval Busy Fingers 4-H club for the past 10 years.

Carol has enrolled for and completed 20 4-H projects, all with a grade of "A". She has been active in her 4-H club as an officer and Jr. Leader and in county and state 4-H activities. Her advisers are Mrs. Frank Baum and Mrs. Robert Newton.

Vance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Vance, Route 2, Orient. He has been a member of the Darby Fine and Dandy 4-H club for the last nine years.

Jerry has completed 21 4-H projects, all but one received grade "A", the other a "B". He has held many club offices, is active in the county Jr. Leadership Club and is on the Jr. Fair Board. He has also participated in several state 4-H club activities.

Jerry's advisers are Franklin Riddle, Mostyn Garrett and his father.

The Pickaway Tractor Club will hold its organizational meeting on Wednesday at the Lands Garage in Stoutsville.

This club is for both first year and advanced club members. Persons 12 to 20 years of age who would like to study tractor this year, are invited to attend this organization meeting.

Farm Facts . . .

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

OHIO TURKEY growers plan to raise 21 percent fewer turkeys this year than last, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

COMMON MARKET countries take about 20 per cent of our total agricultural exports, say Ohio State University Extension economists. Chief exports are cotton, soybeans, feed grains and poultry.

OHIO STATE University Extension Agronomists consider spring seed oats as one of the best companion crops for meadow seedings.

MODERN METHODS of production, harvesting, processing, storage and transportation now provide farm-fresh foods at all times.

THE SPREAD between farm and retail prices for food widened slightly in 1961 and probably will continue to grow in 1962, according to the Economic Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

IN THE PAST decade, farm output increased 27 per cent while population increased only 17 per cent.

HELICOPTERS may be valuable for applying insecticides to small, high-value forest areas such as Christmas tree plantations, according to the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A WILD AFRICAN plant that contains rotenone in its leaves is being improved by USDA scientists in Puerto Rico to provide a domestic source of this natural insecticide.

Farmers Urged To Be Aware of Market Prices

Farmers in Pickaway County were reminded today they should be alert to market prices that will enable them to redeem their wheat at a profit.

The announcement was made by J. Austin Dowden, office manager for the Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. He reminded that the maturity date is approaching for wheat which is under price support in this area.

"Farmers who follow increases in local grain prices in this way are using the price support program as it was intended," Dowden said. "The price-support rate puts a floor under prices and offers price protection at harvesttime."

"If prices rise to a point where farmers can sell on the open market and still repay their loans plus interest with a profit, it is better for them to do this rather than to deliver their grain to the government which already holds large stocks", Dowden added.

Dowden urged farmers to check with their local ASCS Office if they have loans that might be redeemed profitably.

It was decided that dues would be $1 per person for the year. The members voted to have their meetings every other Tuesday evening. The next meeting will be 8 p. m. March 13 at the school.

The next meeting will be at Walnut School at 7:30 p. m. March 12.

Soybean Production Clinic Set Tuesday at Washington

Practices that will increase the efficiency of soybean production in Pickaway County will be discussed at a Soybean Production Clinic scheduled for Tuesday, starting at 10 a. m. in the Dayton Power and Light Auditorium in Washington C. H.

Two agronomists and an agricultural engineer of the Ohio State University's Agricultural Extension Service will appear on the program. The agronomists are Drs. Lewis C. Saboe and Harold E. Shoemaker. The engineer is William E. Gill.

Saboe will present information on "Efficient Planting Methods Using Quality Seed". Shoemaker will discuss "Lime and Fertilizer Practices" in his presentation and Gill will stress "Factors Involved in "Efficient Harvesting Methods".

George Hamrick, County Extension agent, Agriculture, says farmers attending the meeting will be given an opportunity to ask questions about their own problems.

Exhibits also are planned, the county agent said. They will include information which will support the discussions. Printed material on soybean production also will be available.

The clinic is being sponsored on the state level by the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service and on the local level by Pickaway County Agronomy Committee.

Farmers desiring to attend may meet at the County Extension office, 159 1/2 E. Main St., at 9:30 a. m. on the meeting date.

Farmers in Pickaway County Sign To Divert 6,202 Acres

Farmers of Pickaway County have signed up to divert 6,202 acres from corn production under the 1962 feed grain program, J. Austin Dowden, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced this week. The diversion is from base acreages (1959-1960 average plantings) on 188 farms in the county.

Dowden pointed out that is not too late for farmers in the county to participate in the 1962 feed grain program. The signup period, which started on Feb. 14, will continue through March 30.

Nationally, 168,568 farms had been signed up during the first 10 days of the signup period, calling for the diversion of 3,422,500 acres from the production of corn and grain sorghum, according to a report issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

About 3,017,900 acres of corn acreage will be diverted from 5,769,400 acres of corn base established for farms signed up. About 504,200 acres will be diverted from the grain sorghum base of 1,063,700 acres on farms signed up.

THE 3 million corn acres signed for diversion is more than 52 per cent of the base acreage of signed farms. The 504,200 grain sorghum acres for diversion is 47.4 per cent of the base acreage on signed farms.

Dowden also revealed that $133,422.14 will be paid to farmers in Pickaway County as advance on payments that will be earned by putting the diverted acreage into approved conservation uses.

Farmers who participate in the program may receive up to one-half of the total payment at the time of sign-up.

Payments will be "in-kind"

May 8 Primary Is Labeled As Two Simultaneous Polls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's May 8 primary actually will be two simultaneous elections. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown points out.

The state's chief election official explains it this way: Republicans and Democrats will pick their party nominees to oppose each other for the offices that go to the winners in the Nov. 6 general election.

In addition, voters in the primaries will elect members of state and county central committees to run the affairs of each party.

Candidates for state, district and county offices and for the party committees total 31,540 this year. Nearly 30,000 of that total seek 26,000 posts on the party committees.

A bid field of 68 candidates—38 Democrats and 30 Republicans—is running for nomination for 11 offices on the state ballot, from governor on down.

King-size ballots will prevail in the more populous areas through inclusion of numerous candidates for legislative, district and county posts. Names will be different in the various areas, except for those of statewide aspirants.

A total of 68 candidates seek nomination in Ohio's 23 congressional districts, each of which will elect a U.S. representative next November. An extra congressman-at-large, allowed under the 1960 census, will be elected statewide next fall. Two Republicans and 11 Democrats are bidding for party nominations in May for the extra seat.

Fields in other nomination races include 486 candidates for state representatives, 74 for state senate, 200 for county auditor, 26 for appellate court judge, 122 for common pleas judge, 373 for county commissioner, 6 for probate judge and 27 for various unexpired terms in several counties.

For the 46 state committee posts of each party. Democrats have 102 candidates and Republicans 62.

Two state committee members—a man and a woman—will be selected in each congressional district. Members of county committees will be elected in wards and precincts.

Brown reminded voters that March 28 is the deadline for those needing to register in the 47 counties where it is required. All cities of 16,000 or more population require registration.

House Speaker Roger Cloud says with mock seriousness that he had no idea Gov. Michael V. DiSalle valued him so highly.

The Republican leader referred to the Democrat governor's designation of him as a "$900 million speaker".

DiSalle asserted that was the total increase in spending approved by the 1955 and 1957 GOP legislatures, in which Cloud presided over the House. By contrast, the governor said the Democrat-dominated 1959 session made only a $61 million boost despite record tax increases.

DiSalle said he would hammer home those figures during his reelection campaign.

Cloud termed the figures typical of how they can be used to paint the kind of financial picture admired by an artist like DiSalle. The veteran House speaker said DiSalle swelled the over all sums by including totals from voter-approved highway bonds—some of which had not even been issued at the time — along with federal matching money and earmarked revenues that could not be used for general state operations.

The general fund, used to run the state, reflects the true picture, Cloud asserted.

The general fund total approved by the 1953 legislature for two-year state operations totaled $662 million.

The 1955 legislature increased the total to $750 million and the 1957 General Assembly to $912 million.

Then the 1959 legislature, in which Democrats predominated, boosted the general fund to $1.11 billion. The last legislature under GOP control approved a fund of $1.18 billion.

Biggest increase in the general fund over the previous biennium was $198 million by the 1959 legislature, Cloud pointed out.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Carol Baum and Jerry Vance were scheduled to receive the State Jr. Leader Honor Awards at the Ohio Jr. Leader Honor Award Conference yesterday and today. They were selected by the 4-H Council awards committee to receive the highest county 4-H award.

The 11th annual Jr. Leader Honor Award Conference is designed to give recognition to the outstanding Jr. Leaders from all 88 counties in the state. The event, sponsored by the Ohio 4-H Club Foundation, is being held at the Youth Center and Arts and Crafts Buildings at the Ohio Exposition Center.

The purpose of the Jr. Leader Honor Award is to provide recognition for demonstrating Jr. Leadership and service, to use accumulated experiences of the members to help plan, promote and carry out the 4-H club program, to develop further opportunity to develop leadership of the members, to encourage members to continue as Jr. Leaders and to extend the period of active interest in service and in the Extension program.

Every year each county may nominate one or more Jr. Leaders as candidates to receive this award. The total number of nominations allowed depends upon the number of 4-H members in the county.

One nominee is allowed for each 400 4-H members enrolled or fractions thereof. Pickaway County may nominate two Jr. Leaders. Applications for the nominees are then sent to the State 4-H Club Department for approval and announcement.

Several requirements must be met in order for a member to be eligible. They are: the member must be at least 17 and not over 21 on Jan. 1, 1962; must have completed four years of 4-H club work showing high standards of project work; must have completed two years of Jr. Leadership activities; and must have a record of unselfish participation in club or community, county, state and national activities.

Miss Baum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baum, Route 1, Lockbourne. She has been a member of the Duvall Busy Fingers 4-H club for the past 10 years. Carol has enrolled for and completed 20 4-H projects, all with a grade of "A". She has been active in her 4-H club as an officer and Jr. Leader and in county and state 4-H activities. Her advisers are Mrs. Frank Baum and Mrs. Robert Newton.

Vance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Vance, Route 2, Orient. He has been a member of the Darby Fine and Dandy 4-H club for the last nine years.

Jerry has completed 21 4-H projects, all but one received grade "A", the other a "B". He has held many club offices, is active in the county Jr. Leadership Club and is on the Jr. Fair Board. He has also participated in several state 4-H club activities.

Jerry's advisers are Franklin Riddle, Mostyn Garrett and his father.

The Pickaway Tractor Club will hold its organizational meeting on Wednesday at the Lands Garage in Stoutsville.

This club is for both first year and advanced club members. Persons 12 to 20 years of age who would like to study tractor this year, are invited to attend this organization meeting.

Farm Facts . . .

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

OHIO TURKEY growers plan to raise 21 percent fewer turkeys this year than last, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

COMMON MARKET countries take about 20 per cent of our total agricultural exports, say Ohio State University Extension economists. Chief exports are cotton, soybeans, feed grains and poultry.

OHIO STATE University Extension Agronomists consider spring seed oats as one of the best companion crops for meadow seedings.

MODERN METHODS of production, harvesting, processing, storage and transportation now provide farm-fresh foods at all times.

THE SPREAD between farm and retail prices for food widened slightly in 1961 and probably will continue to grow in 1962, according to the Economic Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

IN THE PAST decade, farm output increased 27 per cent while population increased only 17 per cent.

HELICOPTERS may be valuable for applying insecticides to small, high-value forest areas such as Christmas tree plantations, according to the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A WILD AFRICAN plant that contains rotenone in its leaves is being improved by USDA scientists in Puerto Rico to provide a domestic source of this natural insecticide.

Farmers Urged To Be Aware of Market Prices

Farmers in Pickaway County were reminded today they should be alert to market prices that will enable them to redeem their wheat at a profit.

The announcement was made by J. Austin Dowden, office manager for the Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. He reminded that the maturity date is approaching for wheat which is under price support in this area.

"Farmers who follow increases in local grain prices in this year are using the price support program as it was intended," Dowden said. "The price-support rate puts a floor under prices and offers price protection at harvest time."

"If prices rise to a point where farmers can sell on the open market and still repay their loans plus interest to do this rather than to deliver their grain to the government which already holds large stocks," Dowden added. Dowden urged farmers to check with their local ASCS Office if they have loans that might be redeemed profitably.

It was decided that dues would be $1 per person for the year. The members voted to have their meetings every other Tuesday evening. The next meeting will be 8 p. m. March 13 at the school.

Clover Leaf Pony Club
By Beverly Lane

The fourth meeting was called to order by the president. The pledges were led by the vice president.

We decided to make posters to celebrate National 4-H Week. Questions will be asked at the next meeting from the first, second, and third year books. There were three visitors present at the meeting.

The next meeting will be at Walnut School at 7:30 p. m. March 12.

Practices that will increase the efficiency of soybean production in Pickaway County will be discussed at a Soybean Production Clinic scheduled for Tuesday, starting at 10 a. m. in the Dayton Power and Light Auditorium in Washington, D. C.

volved in "Efficient Harvesting Methods". George Hamrick, County Extension agent, Agriculture, says farmers attending the meeting will be given an opportunity to ask questions about their own problems.

Exhibits also are planned, the county agent said. They will include information which will support the discussions. Printed material on soybean production also will be available.

The clinic is being sponsored on the state level by the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service and on the local level by Pickaway County Agronomy Committee.

Farmers desiring to attend may meet at the County Extension office, 159½ E. Main St., at 9:30 a. m. on the meeting date.

Farmers in Pickaway County Sign To Divert 6,202 Acres

Farmers of Pickaway County have signed up to divert 6,202 acres from corn production under the 1962 feed grain program, J. Austin Dowden, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced this week. The diversion is from base acreages (1959-1960 average plantings) on 188 farms in the county.

Dowden pointed out that is not too late for farmers in the county to participate in the 1962 feed grain program. The sign-up period, which started on Feb. 14, will continue through March 30.

Nationally, 168,568 farms had been signed up during the first 10 days of the sign-up period, calling for the diversion of 3,422,500 acres from the production of corn and grain sorghum, according to a report issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

About 3,017,900 acres of corn acreage will be diverted from 5,769,400 acres of corn base established for farms signed up. About 504,200 acres will be diverted from the grain sorghum base of 1,063,700 acres on farms signed up.

THE 3 million corn acres signed for diversion is more than 52 per cent of the base acreage of signed farms. The 504,200 grain sorghum acres for diversion is 47.4 per cent of the base acreage on signed farms.

Dowden also revealed that $133,422.14 will be paid to farmers in Pickaway County as advance on payments that will be earned by putting the diverted acreage into approved conservation uses.

Farmers who participate in the program may receive up to one-half of the total payment at the time of sign-up.

May 8 Primary Is Labeled As Two Simultaneous Polls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's May 8 primary actually will be two simultaneous elections. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown points out.

The state's chief election official explains it this way: Republicans and Democrats will pick their party nominees to oppose each other for the offices that go to the winners in the Nov. 6 general election.

In addition, voters in the primaries will elect members of state and county central committees to run the affairs of each party.

Candidates for state, district and county offices and for the party committees total 31,540 this year. Nearly 30,000 of that total seek 26,000 posts on the party committees.

A bid field of 68 candidates—38 Democrats and 30 Republicans—is running for nomination for 11 offices on the state ballot, from governor on down.

King-size ballots will prevail in

A total of 68 candidates seek nomination in Ohio's 23 congressional districts, each of which will elect a U.S. representative next November. An extra congressman-at-large, allowed under the 1960 census, will be elected statewide next fall. Two Republicans and 11 Democrats are bidding for party nominations in May for the extra seat.

Fields in other nomination races include 486 candidates for state representatives, 74 for state senate, 200 for county auditor, 26 for appellate court judge, 122 for common pleas judge, 273 for county commissioner, 6 for probate judge and 27 for various unexpired terms in several counties. For the 46 state committee posts of each party, Democrats have 102 candidates and Republicans 62.

Two state committee members—a man and a woman—will be selected in each congressional district. Members of county committees will be elected in wards and precincts.

Brown reminded voters that March 28 is the deadline for those needing to register in the 47 counties where it is required. All cities of 16,000 or more population require registration.

House Speaker Roger Cloud says with mock seriousness that he had no idea Gov. Michael V. DiSalle valued him so highly.

The Republican leader referred to the Democrat governor's designation of him as a "$900 million speaker".

The general fund total approved by the 1953 legislature for two-year state operations totaled $662 million.

The 1955 legislature increased the total to $750 million and the 1957 General Assembly to $912 million.

Then the 1959 legislature, in which Democrats predominated, boosted the general fund to $1.11 billion. The last legislature under GOP control approved a fund of $1.18 billion.

Biggest increase in the general fund over the previous biennium was $198 million by the 1959 legislature, Cloud pointed out.

Reds Utilize Oil Weapon

As if the oil industry did not have enough problems, now arises the specter of Soviet interference. Increasingly oil is being developed into a major economic weapon by the masters of the Kremlin.

The Soviet Union has just put into operation the first section of a pipeline to carry oil from the Middle Volga and Ural basins to the four East European communist satellites of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary and East Germany.

This demonstrates new aggressiveness in the oil world by Moscow. For years the Soviets have been attempting to establish a distribution system to market the oil of the Arab world. Since 1954 Moscow has built its oil exports from 100,000 barrels a day to 600,000, and the figure may reach a million by 1965.

If this continues, Iraq—which now is obliged to deal carefully with the Iraq Petroleum Co. (an American-British-French-Dutch combine)—may find it possible to do what it has desired for some time and nationalize the I. P. C. This would inevitably lead to nationalization of oil fields by other Middle Eastern oil. The Arabs would be able to play off the Western companies against the Soviet Union—to the West's definite disadvantage.

Khrushchev & Co., new in the field as oil distributor, seems to miss few bets in its offensive against the Free World.

Bombers Still Useful

Not many months ago, the most verbal military experts were predicting the early retirement of the manned bomber from scene. The 30-minute weapon, the ICBM, was to take over the deterrent task, and bomber pilots could start applying for pensions.

Now a news story from London reveals, "Within the next few years the piloted bomber will largely replace the fixed-base missile as the chief vehicle for Britain's nuclear weapons."

The British reasoning: their island is too vulnerable a target to serve as a rocket-launching base. The present Thor missiles deployed with the Royal Air Force will be replaced by stand-off missiles—the British Blue Steel rocket, and later the American Skybolt, which are fired from airborne bombers at a distance from their targets.

The Only Road

Overwhelming preponderance of comment throughout the world is that President Kennedy took the only road he could in ordering a renewal of nuclear tests unless Russia agrees to a proper, inspected ban.

To equivocate would have been a new threat—rather than a prop—to the precarious edifice of world peace. History will leave no questions about responsibility for renewing tests.

Six months ago Russia cynically and contemptuously started again after a three-year truce. Both the United States and Great Britain had been under self-imposed moratoriums since the Geneva talks, on a treaty to stop bomb testing, started in November, 1958.

A few weeks ago, after 353 fruitless meetings, the Soviet Union broke off the test ban negotiations with the two big Western powers, after making it perfectly clear that in the eyes of Russia it was simply a pantomime.

There were then, and are now, no doubts about Moscow's motive in abruptly breaking the truce. It was for military reasons. The United States has an ascendancy in some techniques Russia was eager to equal and surpass.

Since the renewal of Russian tests it is probably the Soviet has gained on the United States and Great Britain and has taken a dangerous lead.

For reasons of security and deterrent power alone, the United States could not let Russia get too far ahead, especially as there is a likelihood anti-missile missiles are in a fairly advanced stage of development.

Should Russia get the jump on their production then the whole balance of power would be destroyed. So long as the West's nuclear deterrent is adequate, the risk of a conflict is minimized. It is at this point the only real insurance.

Opera Better than Khrushchev

By George Sokolsky

It is essential even for one who earns his living watching the doings of Khrushchev, struggling over what the inventions mean, which politician is really what one thinks he is and why another should believe some of the things that some do believe—it is essential to get away from it all and my way is to go to the opera of a Saturday afternoon when the atmosphere is more musical than on a Monday night for many reasons.

Last Saturday it was "Aida" which no singer or conductor can spoil or improve. So I settled down to a pleasant enough performance with the best lighting I have seen on any stage. After the first act, I dropped into Francis Robinson's cubby-hole of an office which I like to do because he is also a man of extremely wide culture and there is always good conversation which grows rarer these days as we limit ourselves either to the escapism of gossip or the arguing about things we know nothing about.

So last Saturday afternoon, Roland Hayes, the singer, also dropped in and we talked about how hard it is for a young conductor to get a chance to conduct and if perhaps it would not be wise for them to get their apprenticeships with high school orchestras, some of which, over the country, are quite good. For doctors, there is internship and a residency; for lawyers, there is clerkship. But young conductors have a rare chance to lead an orchestra or even a section of one. I am told that Leonard Bernstein takes three assistants a year which must do a great deal for young conductors. So we talked until the time came for Act II.

Then we all foregathered for tea and there was Georgie Jessel and he reminded me of the very distant days of the Gus Edwards show in vaudeville when many who later became great stars sang, "School Days, School Days, Dear Old Golden Rule Days." And we talked of Eddie Cantor, a childhood friend, who has been ill but does not take it lightly, which everyone should do, for ill of one or another and one either is frightened by them or says his prayers and leaves the rest to God.

And I remembered how one day when I was in the hospital with what looked like a terminal thing and Charlie Coburn, the actor, had a nurse roll him into my room to have a visit and Charlie asked me not to spread it that he was in the hospital because then nobody would hire him to act. And we had several good laughs together. Charlie lived to a good ripe age and his passing was regretted but I often see him on the Late Show or even the Late Late Show since I have become addicted to such shenanigans at bedtime.

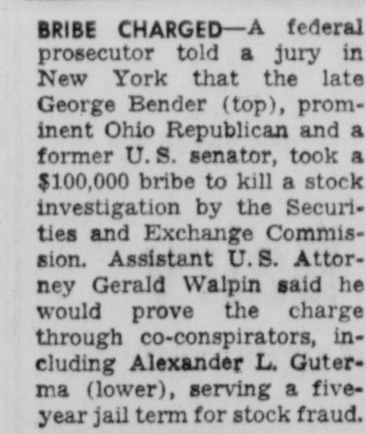

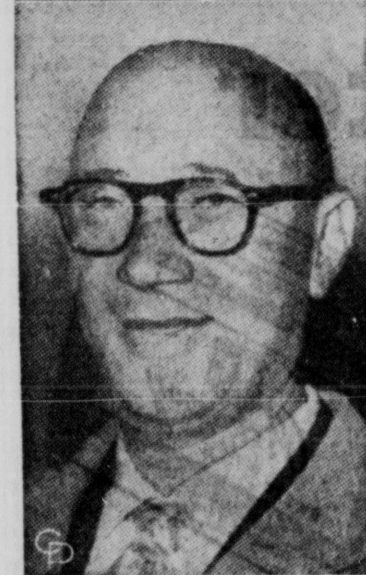

Then there was Act III to hear and Bill Ormerod, who should be addressed as Sir Berkeley, he being a British knight for whatever virtues or sins one becomes such, and I climbed some stairs, which I should not do, to hear Francis Robinson speak over the radio brilliantly and beautifully about Grace Moore. Robinson originated in Nashville, Tennessee, and is gifted with a speaking voice which reminds me of William Jennings Bryan although he is less resonant. The story he told of Grace Moore was most attractive, as she was.

And I conjured up the days when I could only afford Standing Room to listen to Farrar and Caruso and then it became so difficult to listen to the rest of the afternoon's "Aida." For as Roland Hayes said, it is hard to know where genius will strike and one must be helpful.

And I could not help thinking of youth as I looked into the eyes of Maria Jeriza, of another generation, when she first sang at the Metropolitan Opera stirred opera lovers as they had not been in some time. She is still beautiful, for natural beauty never fades.

So here another afternoon passed and no one said one word about politicians and conniving and the trickeries of life. No wonder musicians have such longevity—they throw off the burdens of time and live in the eternities. Or might it be that all their work requires so much exercise?

BRIBE CHARGED—A federal prosecutor told a jury in New York that the late George Bender (top), prominent Ohio Republican and a former U.S. senator, took a $100,000 bribe to kill a stock investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission. Assistant U.S. Attorney Gerald Walpin said he would prove the charge through co-conspirators, including Alexander L. Guterman (lower), serving a five-year jail term for stock fraud.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A CUB REPORTER went to interview H. G. Wells in a Boston hotel, and was so excited when the great literary figure opened the door himself that he blurted, "Good afternoon, sir: I'm H. G. Wells!" Then he froze with horror at his blunder.

Mr. Wells, experienced at this sort of thing, quickly put the young reporter at his ease, however. He smiled broadly, then commented, "Isn't that a coincidence! Even our initials are the same! Come in, come in."

Jerome Beatty Jr., has been investigating the new science of "thermodynamics," which concerns itself with the persistent cussedness of inanimate objects. It is hoped that thermodynamics eventually will reveal the secrets of why buttered bread always falls to the floor with the buttered side down, why squirting grapefruit juice always lands squarely in the spoon-wielder's eye, why, when you're dressing in the greatest hurry, a shoelace always breaks, and why, when you're lighting your pipe with your last match, the wind invariably starts to blow.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN M.D.
Have you heard the latest idea about failing hearts—hearts that can't pump all the blood the body needs?

Doctors used to think that heart muscle fibers stretched to help squeeze out more blood—stretched elastic bands rebound with more oomph—and that salt and water swelled the circulation to help stretch these fibers.

But failing hearts can still keep high blood pressure orbiting. Why? Because the heart works like a motorized pump. It burns fuel (food) for energy. Inside each muscle fiber is a microscopic storage battery.

Through a chain of chemical reactions energy is generated stored and then used to pump blood throughout the body.

Failing hearts grow larger and larger. Ordinarily this would save energy. The larger the bellows the less effort you need to squeeze out the same amount of air.

But failing hearts don't work like bellows. Muscle fibers over-stretch or change. They can barely shrink enough to tense the heart wall.

Keeping this wall tense uses lots of extra energy. And while this tension keeps blood pressure up, it can't push out a single extra drop of blood.

Wasting all this energy, the failing heart can't pump all the blood needed.

Vitamin B1 (thiamin) is an essential link in the chain carrying stored energy into working muscle fibers. Without thiamin muscle fibers grow too weak to work. Flooded with thyroid hormone from an over-enthusiastic gland those microscopic storage batteries stop working and again the heart fails.

Extra salt and water swelling the circulation keep the pumping chamber overstretched.

That's why vitamin pills cure some victims thyroid surgery others and drugs that speed salt loss still others. Rest helps all!

Your heart doesn't have to pump so hard and fast. It can rest recover and shrink—and regain some of that lost oomph!

Reds Utilize Oil Weapon

As if the oil industry did not have enough problems, now arises the specter of Soviet interference. Increasingly oil is being developed into a major economic weapon by the masters of the Kremlin. The Soviet Union has just put into operation the first section of a pipeline to carry oil from the Middle Volga and Ural basins to the four East European communist satellites of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary and East Germany. This demonstrates new aggressiveness in the oil world by Moscow. For years the Soviets have been attempting to establish a distribution system to market the oil of the Arab world. Since 1954 Moscow has built its oil exports from 100,000 barrels a day to 600,000, and the figure may reach a million by 1965. If this continues, Iraq—which now is obliged to deal carefully with the Iraq Petroleum Co. (an American-British, French-Dutch combine)—may find it possible to do what it has desired for some time and nationalize the I. P. C. This would inevitably lead to nationalization of oil fields by other Middle Eastern oil. The Arabs would be able to play off the Western companies against the Soviet Union — to the West's definite disadvantage. Khrushchev & Co., new in the field as soil distributor, seems to miss few bets in its offensive against the Free World.

Bombers Still Useful

Not many months ago, the most verbal military experts were predicting the early retirement of the manned bomber from scene. The 30-minute weapon, the ICBM, was to take over the deterrent task, and bomber pilots could start applying for pensions. Now a news story from London reveals, "Within the next few years the piloted bomber will largely replace the fixed-base missile as the chief vehicle for Britain's nuclear weapons." The British reasoning: their island is too vulnerable a target to serve as a rocket-launching base. The present Thor missiles deployed with the Royal Air Force will be replaced by stand-off missiles—the British Blue Steel rocket, and later the American Skybolt, which are fired from airborne bombers at a distance from their targets.

The Only Road

Overwhelming preponderance of comment throughout the world is that President Kennedy took the only road he could in ordering a renewal of nuclear tests unless Russia agrees to a proper, inspected ban. To equivocate would have been a new threat — rather than a prop — to the precarious edifice of world peace. History will leave no questions about responsibility for renewing tests. Six months ago Russia cynically and contemptuously started again after a three-year truce. Both the United States and Great Britain had been under self-imposed moratoriums since the Geneva talks, on a treaty to stop bomb testing, started in November, 1958. A few weeks ago, after 353 fruitless meetings, the Soviet Union broke off the test ban negotiations with the two big Western powers, after making it perfectly clear that in the eyes of Russia it was simply a pantomime. There were then, and are now, no doubts about Moscow's motive in abruptly breaking the truce. It was for military reasons. The United States has an ascendancy in some techniques Russia was eager to equal and surpass. Since the renewal of Russian tests it is probably the Soviet has gained on the United States and Great Britain and has taken a dangerous lead. For reasons of security and deterrent power alone, the United States could not let Russia get too far ahead, especially as there is a likelihood anti-missile missiles are in a fairly advanced stage of development. Should Russia get the jump on their production, then the whole balance of power would be destroyed. So long as the West's nuclear deterrent is adequate, the risk of a conflict is minimized. It is at this point the only real insurance.

Opera Better than Khrushchev

By George Sokolsky

It is essential even for one who earns his living watching the doings of Khrushchev, struggling over what the inventions mean, which politician is really what one thinks he is and why another should believe some of the things that some do believe — it is essential to get away from it all and my way is to go to the opera of a Saturday afternoon when the atmosphere is more musical than on a Monday night for many reasons. Last Saturday it was "Aida" which no singer or conductor can spoil or improve. So I settled down to a pleasant enough performance with the best lighting I have seen on any stage. After the first act, I dropped into Francis Robinson's cubby-hole of an office which I like to do because he is also a man of extremely wide culture and there is always good conversation which grows rarer these days as we limit ourselves either to the escapism of gossip or the arguing about things we know nothing about. So last Saturday afternoon, Roland Hayes, the singer, also dropped in and we talked about how hard it is for a young conductor to get a chance to conduct and if perhaps it would not be wise for them to get their apprenticeships with high school orchestras, some of which, over the country, are quite good. For doctors, there is internship and a residency; for lawyers, there is clerkship. But young conductors have a rare chance to lead an orchestra or even a section of one. I am told that Leonard Bernstein takes three assistants a year which must do a great deal for young conductors. So we talked until the time came for Act II.

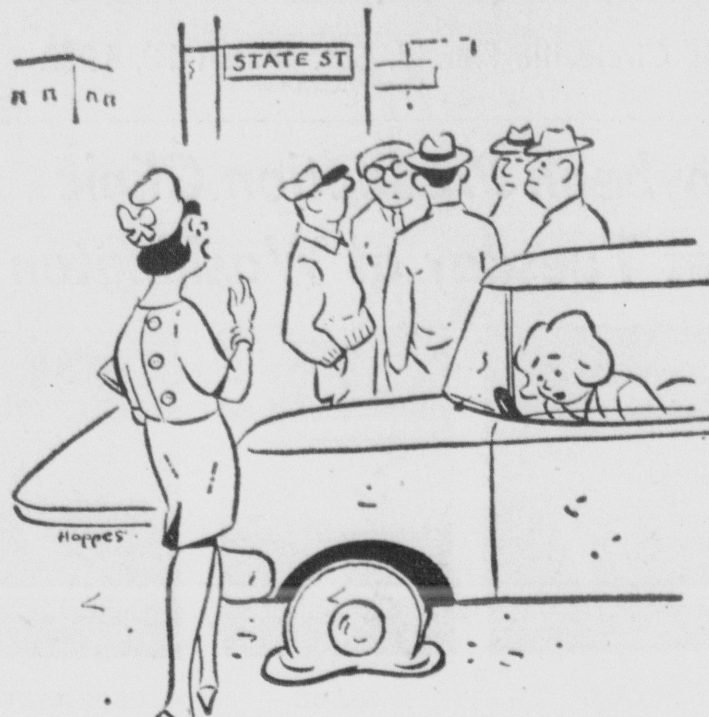

Then we all foregathered for tea and there was Georgie Jessel and he reminded me of the very distant days of the Gus Edwards show in vaudeville when many who later became great stars sang, "School Days, School Days, Dear Old Golden Rule Days." And we talked of Eddie Cantor, a childhood friend, who has been ill but does not take it lightly, which everyone should do, for ill of the flesh must come to us at one time or another and one either is frightened by them or says his prayers and leaves the rest to God. And I remembered how one day when I was in the hospital with what looked like a terminal thing and Charlie Coburn, the actor, had a nurse roll him into my room to have a visit and Charlie asked me not to spread it that he was in the hospital because then nobody would hire him to act. And we had several good laughs together. Charlie lived to a good ripe age and his passing was regretted but I often see him on the Late Show or even the Late Late Show since I have become addicted to such shenanigans at bedtime. Then there was Act III to hear and Bill Ormerod, who should be addressed as Sir Berkeley, he being a British knight for whatever virtues or sins one becomes such, and I climbed some stairs, which I should not do, to hear Francis Robinson speak over the radio brilliantly and beautifully about Grace Moore, Robinson originated in Nashville, Tennessee, and is gifted with a speaking voice which reminds me of William Jennings Bryan although he is less resonant. The story he told of Grace Moore was most attractive, as she was.

And I conjured up the days when I could only afford Standing Room to listen to Farrar and Caruso and then it became so difficult to listen to the rest of the afternoon's "Aida". For as Roland Hayes said, it is hard to know where genius will strike and one must be helpful. And I could not help thinking of youth as I looked into the eyes of Maria Jeriza, of another generation, who when she first sang at the Metropolitan Opera stirred opera lovers as they had not been in some time. She is still beautiful, for natural beauty never fades. So here another afternoon passed and no one said one word about

BRIBE CHARGED—A federal prosecutor told a jury in New York that the late George Bender (top), prominent Ohio Republican and a former U.S. senator, took a $100,000 bribe to kill a stock investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission. Assistant U.S. Attorney Gerald Walpin said he would prove the charge through co-conspirators, including Alexander L. Guterman (lower), serving a five-year jail term for stock fraud.

Ashville Women's Civic Club Style Show For Spring, Easter Termed Huge Success

By MRS. ART DEAL JR.
Termed a huge success was the Spring and Easter Style show, sponsored by the Ashville Women's Civic Club in the Ashville High School Auditorium Thursday evening.

Approximately 260 ladies and daughters viewed clothing modeled by club members and their children from Charff's Women's Apparel and The Children and Deb Shop's of Circleville. Special entertainment was enjoyed throughout the evening.

Guests sat at individual linen covered card tables, centered with a small hat tree with four small spring bonnets hanging on the tree for the guests to take home as table favors.

The stage, where the models entered, carried out the same theme only with two large tree's, painted yellow. Spring and Easter hats were displayed from the branches.

Models entered through a doorway and made their way down a flight of carpeted steps and through the audience where spectators viewed and examined the garments.

Mrs. Tom Purcell, club president, welcomed the group, followed by a quartet of local young ladies who sang "Without a Song" and "An Old Fashioned Garden." Members of the quartet were Miss Mary Ellen Downs, Miss Donna Jean Walker, Miss Gretchen Hott and Mrs. Don Welsh. They were accompanied by Mrs. Gail Wolfe Jr. of Circleville.

Mrs. Dorothy Jonnes, co-owner of The Children and Deb Shop's, was then introduced to show her collection of Spring togs for children and teens. The models and their outfits were: Barbara Hedges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hedges, a Navy sailor dress by Nannette with a white sailor straw hat trimmed in navy and a beige coat by Kute Kiddie Classic. Her brother Benton modeled a Hi Line suit of exclusive fabric imported from Italy.

Jeff Trimble, son of Sgt. and Mrs. William Trimble, modeled a bright red Hi Line blazer jacket with Navy Ironall slacks. This was topped with a top coat styled by Acecraft of 5th Ave. His sister Terry modeled a Sid Harris Junior Teen ever popular shirtmaker dress with a petite hat as seen in The American Girl.

Susie Lutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benis Lutz, modeled a pink Kate Greenway dress and a Navy Kute Kiddie Coat and matching hat. Susan Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Cook, wore a Ruth Original orchid and pink print cotton everglaze and a white straw topper. Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Ignore the Bedlam, Lady!

DEAR ABBY: Please print this in your column to wake up some women who take their children to business places and let them wreck the place. I own a beauty shop. Most of my customers bring along their little darlings who yell and scream and tear the place apart and make other customers nervous while their mothers bury their noses in a magazine never saying a word unless the children bother them.

I have tried buying books and toys to keep the kiddies amused but the toys get broken or carried off and the coloring books get torn up. I love children, but not when they act like animals in my shop. What do you suggest?

END OF MY ROPE
DEAR END: You can't ask your customers to leave their "darlings" home. Nor can you discipline a customer's child or ask the mother to without risking losing her business. You can't win, but you can avert an ulcer by admitting that these are the necessary evils of making a living by sudsing hair and winding wigs.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man who is just about perfect in every way. The only thing that is holding up our marriage is his divorce. It is taking a long time to come through because his wife refuses to sign the divorce papers. I have told my family and friends that we are secretly married because I was sure we would be last summer. Is there any way I can speed up his divorce?

ALONE AND IN LOVE
DEAR ABBY: You can't "speed up" a divorce which is not yet in the works. The man is married, which is probably the way he wants it. P.S. You had better stop peddling tales before you are "alone and in trouble."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are just average people. We have three small children. The baby is four months old. My complaint is that for the last three Sundays we have been opening our front door to unexpected company. In all cases they were casual friends of mine. They are nice people, Abby, but on Sunday the house looks so messy. Naturally, my husband feels that he should show them the house and we both are nervous wrecks and very much embarrassed because of the clutter and the children crying for attention. Am I a poor manager or am I correct in preferring a phone call or warning before guests arrive?

ORDINARY PEOPLE
DEAR ORDINARY: NO ONE should "surprise" folks with a drop-in type visit in my opinion. I have been severely criticized for my point of view, but I still contend it is one of the most inconsiderate gestures one can make in the name of friendship.

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

How long did it take you to court your wife?

Did you just happen to see her, ask her to marry you, call in the minister — right on the spot?

PERHAPS NOT — it probably took a lot of calls, and trips, movies, flowers, and a lot of putting-your-best-foot forward tactics. You had to sell yourself. She had to know all about you.

IT'S THE SAME WITH ADVERTISING — you can't "woo" customers with one Ad — you've got to "call on them" over a period of time — you've got to win their confidence and be convincing.

CONSISTENT ADVERTISING wins customers if it's truthful, if it gives helpful information, if it saves shopping steps, if it is backed up with intelligent, courteous service and honest values.

Am I a poor manager or am I correct in preferring a phone call or warning before guests arrive?

ORDINARY PEOPLE
DEAR ORDINARY: NO ONE should "surprise" folks with a drop-in type visit in my opinion. I have been severely criticized for my point of view, but I still contend it is one of the most inconsiderate gestures one can make in the name of friendship.

How long did it take you to court your wife?

Did you just happen to see her, ask her to marry you, call in the minister — right on the spot?

PERHAPS NOT — it probably took a lot of calls, and trips, movies, flowers, and a lot of putting-your-best-foot forward tactics. You had to sell yourself. She had to know all about you.

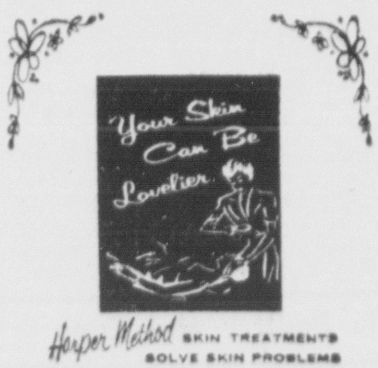

IT'S THE SAME WITH ADVERTISING — you can't "woo" customers with one Ad — you've got to "call on them" over a period of time — you've got to win their confidence and be convincing.

CONSISTENT ADVERTISING wins customers if it's truthful, if it gives helpful information, if it saves shopping steps, if it is backed up with intelligent, courteous service and honest values.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, Edith Mae Cupp, who passed away two years ago today, March 10, 1960.

Since death, its gloom, its shades cast. And took from us a shining light. We miss that light, and always will. Your vacant place here no one can fill. What would we give to clasp your hand. Your happy face to see. To hear your voice and see your smile. For your love that made our lives worthwhile. Not a day do we forget you. In our hearts you are always here. As we've loved you, so we've missed you. As it dawns another year. Sadly missed by her husband and children, Mr. Russell Cupp and family.

Cincy-Bradley Game To Fill Tourney Spots

NCAA, NIT Await Outcome of Mo-Val Contest on Monday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only one spot remained to be filled in both the NCAA and National Invitation Basketball tournament today—but it's probably the most important.

When Cincinnati and Bradley meet in a playoff for the Missouri Valley Championship Monday the winner will head for the NCAA and the loser the NIT.

Cincinnati is the defending NCAA champion, having defeated Ohio State in last year's final. The NCAA is hoping the Bearcats and Buckeyes meet again.

Both St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Texas Tech gained NCAA spots Friday night. The Hawks won the Middle Atlantic Conference championship by defeating Temple 75-65 in Philadelphia. Texas Tech captured the Southwest Conference crown for the second straight year by outlasting Southern Methodist 71-67 in Fort Worth. Both were play-offs.

The NCAA college division post-season tournament moved into high gear on eight fronts from coast to coast. Defending champion Wittenberg turned back Gannon 69-43 and unbeaten Florida A&M rolled to its 26th straight victory, 74-60 over Youngstown in a doubleheader at Akron. Ohio Southern Illinois jumped a round ahead of the rest of the field with an 88-83 triumph over Evansville, to move into the quarter-finals.

St. Joseph's got a bye in the first round and will play next Friday the survivor of Monday's game between Wake Forest, Atlantic Coast Conference champion, and Yale, the Ivy League ruler.

Texas Tech will meet the Air Force Academy, an at-large entry, in the first round of the NCAA tournament in Dallas Monday.

Villanova, an at-large NCAA club, defeated La Salle 75-67 in Philadelphia before St. Joseph's and Temple took the floor.

In other major games, Stanford beat UCLA 82-67, Oregon State downed Oregon 65-48, California nipped Southern Calif. 61-60. Washington squeaked by Idaho 55-54. Tulane took Louisiana State 34-69 and Connecticut whipped Colgate 94-78.

Argentine Boxer Is Booked on TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Argentina's middleweight hopeful, Faid Salim, will try to regain some lost prestige tonight when he faces well-seasoned Joey Giambra of San Francisco in a nationally televised (ABC) 10-round at St. Nicholas Arena.

Salim whipped Teddy Wright in a TV bout last Oct. 28, but four weeks later in another televised match, he was outpointed by Yama Bahama.

Giambra, 30, also lost to Bahama last year. His record is 63-6-2, including 30 knockouts.

The 24-year-old Salim has been idle since the loss to Bahama. His record is 32-2-2, with 14 knockouts to his credit.

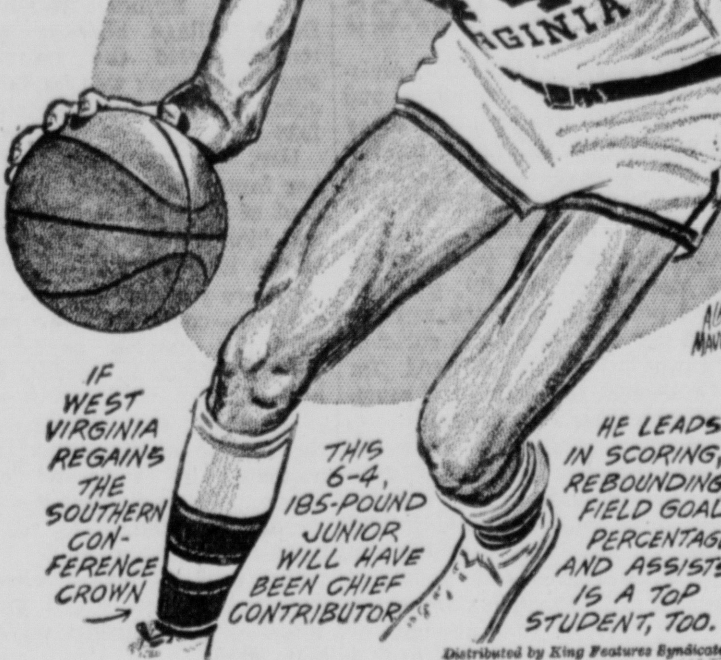

Starting time for tonight's bout is 10 p.m. EST.

Sad Sam Jones, Del Crandall Trod Baseball Comeback Trail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toothpick-chomping Sad Sam Jones, trying to grab a nibbling of the birth with Detroit, and Milwaukee catcher Del Crandall, in-lined to have a built-in aversion to splinters after sitting on 'em for almost an entire season, have taken the first steps up baseball's comeback trail.

The 35-year-old Jones, acquired from Houston after the Colts picked him from San Francisco in the National League expansion draft had been hospitalized for minor neck surgery and made his first mound appearance in more than a week Friday.

The workhorse right-hander who was a big winner for the Giants but dipped to 8-8 last year with a 4.50 earned run average received a report card that was more than satisfactory after the workout.

"Sam was putting the ball just where he wanted to and he was throwing the way he should," said manager Bob Scheffing. "Those hitters will tell you how much stuff he had. He'll get faster after he's thrown more."

At the Braves camp, Crandall, sidelined during the 1961 campaign after he suffered an inflamed tendon in his shoulder April 20, reported himself 90 to 95 per cent ready after reviewing his performance in Thursday's intrasquad game.

A .294 hitter with 19 homers and 71 RBI in 1960, Crandall played only 15 games last year, but his showing in the six-inning affair had manager Birdie Tebbetts "delighted and surprised."

Crandall, 32-year-old sparkplug considered by many the top catcher in the National League two years ago, said, "I don't know when I'll be ready but I don't think the day will be far off. I never had so much fun in my life."

Other players turned up with assorted aches and pains—and even the mumps—as the clubs went through their final paces preparatory to opening the exhibition season today.

Zoilo Versalles came down with the mumps at the Minnesota camp and became the second Twins shortstop lost in two days. Versalles, who will be out of uniform for about 10 days, joins Orlando Martinez on the sidelines. Martinez strained a tendon in his left heel.

Majors Gain Tie In Pro Cage Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The new American Basketball League made its first appearance of the season in Florida Friday night and a crowd of 7,322 saw the Chicago Majors whip the Hawaii Chiefs 104-92 to tie the Pittsburgh Pipers for first place in the Eastern Division.

The Cleveland Pipers, first half Eastern champs, fell into last place in the Eastern second half race by losing to the San Francisco Saints 106-104 in overtime at Oakland, Calif. No other games were scheduled.

Ring Referee Chided as Moore Wins

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The ring record book today read: Featherweight champion Davey Moore, 132, Columbus, Ohio, scored a seventh-round knockout over Cisco Andrade, 135, San Jacinto Calif., in a non-title fight.

But, although Moore was the winner, he drew less attention in the one-sided fight Friday night than referee George Latka.

The Andrade camp was sore because Latka stopped the uneven match to save the 32-year-old veteran from further damage. And the Moore people were mad because Latka accused Davey of "carrying" his friendly opponent in the early rounds. Latka needed a police escort on his way to the dressing room.

Latka stepped to Moore's corner at the end of the fourth round and advised Manager Willie Kalam that he thought Davey was going easy on Cisco.

In the seventh, when Latka stopped the fight, a few empty beer cans and a couple of half-eaten hot dog buns sailed into the ring.

The referee, himself a former boxer, argued his own case.

"What would you do?" he inquired. "Cisco had no chance to win. He was behind on points 10-0. He could have got hurt badly. He should quit."

In his dressing room the 32-year-old Andrade indicated he is in no mood to quit, and he declared he didn't think Latka should have stopped the proceedings.

Coach Pettit Gets Sparkling Action From Player Pettit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now if Coach Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks can find a couple more like player Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, those Western Division titles might start coming again in the National Basketball Association.

With Fuzzy Levane assigned to scouting duties for the rest of the season, Pettit took over as coach against Chicago at Detroit Friday night. He got a brilliant performance from player Pettit—41 points and 28 rebounds—and the Hawks scored a 124-120 victory.

In the second game at Detroit, the Boston Celtics won their 56th of the season—one short of their all-time season record set two years ago—beating the Pistons 130-111. At New York, the Knicks ended their home season with a 122-100 romp over Los Angeles, the Western Division champs.

BG Tankers Hold Edge in Mid-Am

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—The 10th annual Mid-American Conference swimming championships end tonight with finals scheduled in six events.

Bowling Green, a five-time titlist, pulled ahead of Western Michigan Friday night, 57 to 50. Defending champion Ohio University so far had won only in one-meter diving and was last with 32 points. Miami had 41, Kent 38.

One Mid-Am record was set Friday night. It was by Joe Shaw of Miami who at 2:06.5 finished a hand ahead of Bowling Green's Gary Laprise in the 220-yard free style. Laprise set the old 2:07.8 record last year.

Houston, which sports a brand new National League baseball franchise, made its debut in professional ball in 1888 in the Texas League.

Beatty Zips Mile under 4:00 Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Beatty registered his second sub-four minute mile of the indoor track season and Hayes Jones bettered the American 60 yard high hurdle record to be the show-stoppers of the 26th annual Chicago Daily News Relays Friday night.

Their outstanding performances, plus an American record-lowering time by the University of Kansas two-mile relay team, drew cheers from a capacity crowd of 15,189 in Chicago Stadium.

Beatty, who became the first indoor mile to break the four-minute barrier last Feb. 10 with 3:58.9 in Los Angeles, took the mile in 3:59.7. On his heels until he opened up a 12-yard gap to the finish, was 19-year-old Tom O'Hara, Loyola of Chicago sophomore. O'Hara was timed in 4:01.6.

East Germany's Siegfried Heermann ran an indoor mile in 3:59.9 shortly after Beatty's Los Angeles race.

Jones, former Western Michigan star and now a Detroit school teacher, rocketed the high jumpers in :06.9, clipping one tenth, second off his own American mark, which he had shared with Matt Campbell, Campbell, ex-Indiana ace, first set it in 1957.

Kansas overshadowed the relay competition with a blistering 7:30.8. This bettered the accepted two-mile baton record of 7:32.8 set by Manhattan College in 1961.

Majors Gain Tie In Pro Cage Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The new American Basketball League made its first appearance of the season in Florida Friday night and a crowd of 7,322 saw the Chicago Majors whip the Hawaii Chiefs 104-92 to tie the idle Pittsburgh Rens for first place in the Eastern Division.

The Cleveland Pipers, first half Eastern champs, fell into last place in the Eastern second half race by losing to the San Francisco Saints 106-104 in overtime at Oakland, Calif. No other games were scheduled.

Ring Referee Chided as Moore Wins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ring record book today read: Featherweight champion Davey Moore, 132, Columbus, Ohio, scored a seventh-round knockout over Cisco Andrade, 135, San Jacinto, Calif., in a non-title fight.

But, although Moore was the winner, he drew less attention in the one-sided fight Friday night than referee George Latka.

The Andrade camp was sore because Latka stopped the uneven match to save the 32-year-old veteran from further damage. And the Moore people were mad because Latka accused Davey of "carrying" his friendly opponent in the early rounds. Latka needed a police escort on his way to the dressing room.

Latka stepped to Moore's corner at the end of the fourth round and advised Manager Willie K. Dismu he thought Davey was going easy on Cisco.

In the seventh, when Latka stopped the fight, a few empty beer cans and a couple of half-eaten hot dog buns sailed into the ring.

The referee, himself a former boxer, argued his own case.

"What would you do?" he inquired. "Cisco had no chance to win. He was behind on points 10-0. He could have got hurt badly. He should quit."

In his dressing room the 32-year-old Andrade indicated he is in no mood to quit, and he declared he didn't think Latka should have stopped the proceedings.

Coach Pettit Gets Sparkling Action From Player Pettit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Now if Coach Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks can find a couple more like player Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, those Western Division titles might start coming again in the National Basketball Association.

With Fuzzy Levane assigned to scouting duties for the rest of the season, Pettit took over as coach against Chicago at Detroit Friday night. He got a brilliant performance from player Pettit — 41 points and 28 rebounds — and the Hawks scored a 124-120 victory.

In the second game at Detroit, the Boston Celtics won their 58th of the season — one short of their all-time season record set two years ago — beating the Pistons 130-111. At New York, the Knicks ended their home season with a 122-100 romp over Los Angeles, the Western Division champs.

BG Tankers Hold Edge in Mid-Am

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — The 10th annual Mid-American Conference swimming championships end tonight with finals scheduled in six events.

Bowling Green, a five-time finalist, pulled ahead of Western Michigan Friday night, 57 to 50. Defending champion Ohio University so far had won only in one-meter diving and was last with 12 points. Miami had 41, Kent 38.

One Mid-Am record was set Friday night. It was by Joe Shaw of Miami who at 2:06.5 finished a hand ahead of Bowling Green's Gary Laprise in the 220-yd. free style. Laprise set the old 2:07.8 record last year.

Houston, which sports a brand new National League baseball franchise, made its debut in professional ball in 1888 in the Texas League.

Young's Joke Gives DiSalle Nary a Smile

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, thought Gov. Michael V. DiSalle would get a kick out of a quotation from President Kennedy to the effect that "competition is good for the Democratic Party."

So when Young and DiSalle met at a Washington luncheon this week, Young read the quote to him.

But DiSalle, who is facing stiff opposition from state Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, didn't crack a smile.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ed Kline, the long-legged mailman from Cuyahoga Falls who walked most of the way to Washington, wasn't through hiking when he got here.

Kline joined more than 2,000 other members of the National Association of Letter Carriers in buttonholing legislators to ask support for a pay raise bill.

Top officials of the association said Kline's hike of nearly 300 miles did a lot to dramatize the postmen's plea for more money.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle let it be known on a visit here this week that he intends to remain silent on whether President Kennedy offered him a cabinet post before DiSalle decided to seek re-election.

A questioner noted he had never seen DiSalle quoted about the rumored offer of a post in Kennedy's cabinet and the governor replied: "No, and you never will."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frances P. Bolton, R-Ohio, says President Kennedy has added more than 75,000 federal employees to the payroll since he took office.

Every additional government worker adds to an expanding bureaucracy, she said, adding:

"The only way we can curb the trend toward a bigger and bigger government and greater federal expenditures is to say 'no' to proposals which in themselves may be desirable but are not absolutely necessary."

Mrs. Bolton, of Lyndhurst, represents the 22nd Ohio District.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Tom V. Moorehead, R-Ohio, says the manpower training bill passed by the House is "a positive effort that must be explored as an alternative to welfare legislation that perpetuates misery without getting at its causes."

Moorehead, the 15th Ohio District congressman from Zanesville, said the bill is not a cure-all but does "face the issue at its heart—the creation of opportunity for employees displaced by technological progress."

The bill would provide "a public investment in the nation's human resources," he said.

New Yorker Stands in Awe As Storm Demolishes Homes

OCEAN BEACH, N.Y. (AP)—Bill Birmingham, a year around resident of this Fire Island community, told how the storm roused ocean destroyed seven homes as he watched.

"First you'd hear a sort of rumble. Then the power lines would get taut. There would be a few groans, followed by a sharp crackling noise."

Fire Island, which is dotted with summer colonies, is a narrow and sandy strip that runs along the southern shore of Long Island, often less than a mile out.

Police at Westhampton Beach, on eastern Long Island, told of wholesale destruction of homes in that area by the churning water and high winds.

Westhampton Beach police said they had received dozens of calls from homeowners inquiring about their property. Some of the calls came from as far away as Florida and California.

T. W. Sadlier, Westhampton Beach village highway superintendent, said the late winter storm this week was far less damaging than a summer storm in 1938 that killed 60 persons.

Mrs. Charles Catlin, who with her family is a year around resident of Fire Island Pines, told of watching the ocean waves destroy homes in the area.

"There was nothing we—or any one else—could do," she recalled. "We just watched as the ocean pounded them to pieces. It was horrible."

"Luckily our house is in the middle of the island and is protected by a second row of dunes," she said. "But it was still terribly frightening to see those houses washing away."

She said 15 homes along the waterfront were swept into the ocean by the pounding waves and high winds.

McElroy To Seek Defense Contracts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, attempting to unseat Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, issued a statement today saying he would "sit on the White House door step if necessary, until Ohio gets its share of defense contracts."

McElroy said in addition, he would create a governor's advisory committee of top notch business, labor and industrial leaders to plan a program for industrial development.

He also promised to promote expansion of research facilities in state universities to attract space and missile age industries and canvass the United States to sell expanding business on locating in Ohio.

New Yorker Stands in Awe As Storm Demolishes Homes

OCEAN BEACH, N.Y. (AP)—Bill Birmingham, a year around resident of this Fire Island community, told how the storm roused ocean destroyed seven homes as he watched.

"First you'd hear a sort of rumble. Then the power lines would get taut. There would be a few groans, followed by a sharp crackling noise."

Fire Island, which is dotted with summer colonies, is a narrow and sandy strip that runs along the southern shore of Long Island, often less than a mile out.

Police at Westhampton Beach, on eastern Long Island, told of wholesale destruction of homes in that area by the churning water and high winds.

Westhampton Beach police said they had received dozens of calls from homeowners inquiring about their property. Some of the calls came from as far away as Florida and California.

T. W. Sadlier, Westhampton Beach village highway superintendent, said the late winter storm this week was far less damaging than a summer storm in 1938 that killed 60 persons.

Mrs. Charles Catlin, who with her family is a year around resident of Fire Island Pines, told of watching the ocean waves destroy homes in the area.

"There was nothing we—or any one else—could do," she recalled. "We just watched as the ocean pounded them to pieces. It was horrible."

"Luckily our house is in the middle of the island and is protected by a second row of dunes," she said. "But it was still terribly frightening to see those houses washing away."

She said 15 homes along the waterfront were swept into the ocean by the pounding waves and high winds.

McElroy To Seek Defense Contracts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, attempting to unseat Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, issued a statement today saying he would "sit on the White House door step if necessary, until Ohio gets its share of defense contracts."

McElroy said in addition, he would create a governor's advisory committee of top notch business, labor and industrial leaders to plan a program for industrial development.

He also promised to promote expansion of research facilities in state universities to attract space and missile age industries and canvass the United States to sell expanding business on locating in Ohio.
